

IBJ Comment Policy

updated July 13, 2019

IBJ welcomes and encourages comments on stories at IBJ.com that contribute to thoughtful, constructive debate about policy issues, projects, candidates and news. To foster that kind of conversation, IBJ requires that all commenters be registered users of IBJ.com. Registration is free and available at www.ibj.com/account.

Comments will be posted using the first name and last initial that the commenter used when registering.

IBJ reserves the right to remove any post that the moderator interprets as obscene, profane, vulgar, racist, sexually explicit, abusive or hateful. These are subjective judgments and are solely in the discretion of IBJ moderators.

You are legally responsible for what you post and your anonymity is not guaranteed.

Posts that insult, defame, threaten, harass or abuse other readers or people mentioned in Indianapolis Business Journal editorial content are also subject to removal. Please respect the privacy of individuals and refrain from posting personal information.

No solicitations, spamming or advertisements are allowed. Readers may post links to other informational websites that are relevant to the topic at hand, but please do not link to objectionable material.

IBJ may remove messages that are unrelated to the topic, encourage illegal activity, use all capital letters or are unreadable.
